¹ The Cayman Islands, Bermuda and the British Virgin Islands for UNESCO purposes are included as territories of the United Kingdom. When the UK ratified, the Cayman Islands and Bermuda agreed to their inclusion. The British Virgin Islands is in the process of ratification, therefore, for the UNESCO total these three are not included, but each has a NOC, so they are included in the NOC totals.

² Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands are territories of the USA and were included when the USA ratified in August 2008. For UNESCO purposes they fall within the USA and are counted as 1 of the 193 UNESCO Member States. For the NOC totals, as each has a NOC, they are counted separately.

³ Aruba and Netherlands Antilles are Associate Members of UNESCO and therefore are not counted as part of the 193 UNESCO Member States. Both come under the jurisdiction of the Kingdom of the Netherlands for Convention purposes. For the NOC totals, as they each have a NOC, they are counted separately.
